

PROGRAMME

2023 Annual Conference of the European Network for the Philosophy of the Social Sciences

Wednesday, August 30

12.00	Registration open (Entrance Hall, Elinor Ostrom Building)
13.00	Plenary Keynote 1 (EOS NO1.610) Prof. Alison Wylie (The University of British Columbia)
14.30	Coffee break (outside EOS NO1.610)
15.00	Session 1 (EOS NO1.110) - Andrea Giuseppe Ragno. Does competition increase conservatism in science? - Thijs Ringelberg. What is the credit economy?
15.00	Session 2 (EOS NO1.320) - Patrizio Lo Presti. Assuming ontological and methodological individualism: What I's are we? - Jeremy Attard. A general "Matter-Idea-Action model" for the social sciences - Corrado Matta. The explanatory power of discursive formations
17.15	End of sessions

Thursday, August 31

09.00	Session 3 (EOS NO1.110) - Inkeri Koskinen and Alison Wylie. Trust, reliance, and objectivity - Alexander Linsbichler. The fact/value dichotomy relativized: a defense and exploration
09.00	Session 4 (EOS NO1.320) - Helena Slanickova. Making and breaking decision boundaries: scope and social policy reasoning under radical uncertainty - Sofia Blanco Sequeiros. Uncertainty and measurement in economics
10.30	Coffee break (outside EOS NO1.320) We kindly suggest participants budget 10 minutes to walk to the keynote location.
11.00	Plenary Keynote 2 (MM 02.610, 2 nd floor, Green Wing) Prof. Julian Reiss (Johannes Kepler Universität Linz)
12.30	Lunch (Cafeteria 'De Refter', Erasmus building, ground floor)
14.00	Session 5 (EOS NO1.110) - Ivan Boldyrev. Economic models as practices: the challenge of market design - Patricia Marino. Credibility is in the eye of the beholder: minimal models, feminist epistemology, and implications for diversity
14.00	Session 6 (EOS NO1.320) - Karl Landström. On the ethics and social epistemology of epistemic extractivism and the ramifications for data-sharing in research collaborations - Teemu Lari and Uskali Mäki. Costs of pluralism
15.30	Coffee break (outside EOS NO1.320) We kindly suggest participants budget 10 minutes to walk to the symposium location.
16.00	Plenary Book Symposium (MM 02.610, 2 nd floor, Green Wing) For Limits of the Numerical , with co-author Chris Newfield.
17.15	End of sessions
19.00	Conference Dinner (Bistrobar Bankoh)

Friday, September 1

09.00	Session 7 (EOS NO1.110) - Marion Kathe Godman and Caterina Marchionni. Gender, risk, and testosterone: How should we responsibly model social kinds? - Martina Valković. Power and cultural evolution
09.00	Session 8 (EOS NO1.320) - Lukas Beck. Endogenous preferences, environmental economics, and welfare - Matteo Michelini. Epistemic vigilance as a driver of reliable communication
10.30	Coffee break (outside EOS NO1.320)
11.00	Session 9 (EOS NO1.110) - Sophia Cruwell. A deflationary account of replication - Magdalena Malecka. Modern economics and the computer. Epistemology of an uneasy relationship
11.00	Session 10 (EOS NO1.320) - Ina Jäntgen. A decision-theoretic argument against standardizing mean differences - Kobi Finestone, The reliability and neutrality of economic measurement
12.30	Lunch (Cafeteria 'De Refter', Erasmus building, ground floor)